

SOCIAL CHATTER AND HOME TALK

THE beauty and smartness of the Army ball at Fort Shafter, which was given by the commanding officer, officers and ladies of that Post, Thursday evening, may well lay claim to being quite the most exclusive affair so far given this year and will linger long in the memory of those present as being one of the most enjoyable. This function was given in the Administration Building, which is admirably adapted for such an entertainment.

The guests were met on the veranda by Lieutenant Pardee and Lieutenant Rogers. Picturesque Japanese maids in silk kimonos and gorgeous obis, ushered the fair sex into the dressing rooms. On leaving this room, one could not help admiring the decorations of this building. The main hall presented a bower of green; the staircase leading to the upper floor—where the dancing took place—was banked with feathery bamboo and stocks of the sugar cane, which makes such an effective decoration. Major and Mrs. Samuel Dunning and Major and Mrs. Kennedy received the guests in the large ball room. Mrs. Dunning looked regal in a blue satin, cut in the latest mode with a draped skirt. The upper portion of this chic costume was embellished with rare lace. Mrs. Kennedy was clad in a white Paris frock of satin and lace, made with a spray of lavender orchids ornamenting the corsage. Among this fashionable aggregation many beautiful gowns were observed.

Among those present were: Miss Daisy Gras, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. H. Afong, Dr. and Mrs. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Olsen, Mr. W. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mead, Mr. O. ## Engagement.

The engagement has been recently announced of Miss Esther McCall of Oakland to Mr. Percy Walker Barnard. About two years ago Miss McCall visited Paymaster and Mrs. Hornberger of the navy; the latter is her sister. Miss McCall was one of the most popular and one of the prettiest girls that has ever visited Honolulu. She is a demi-blonde with large violet blue eyes and brown hair. During her visit with Paymaster and Mrs. Hornberger, she was a reigning belle of the younger set. The marriage will take place the first day of June, but will be a small wedding. Mr. Barnard is a brother of Lieutenant Barnard of the 5th Cavalry. Lieutenant Barnard married Miss Maud Bannister, daughter of Major Bannister, U. S. A.

On Sunday the usual number of motors went down to Haleiwa, which is the popular place with autoists for Sunday lunch. Among those noticed were Dr. Murray and family; A. W. T. Bottomley and party; Lorrin Andrews; W. G. Andrade, with party of Portuguese officers; Cecil Brown; E. F. Bishop and Richard Ivers, with Chief Justice Beatty; F. E. Thompson; Dr. Durney of Kahuku, and Mr. and Mrs. Dillingham, with Mrs. Hyde-Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Potter.

Miss Mary Eynon, a charming Philadelphia girl arrived on the last Wilhelmnia to spend several months as the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Louis J. Warren of Manoa valley. Mrs. Warren and Miss Eynon are at home to their friends on Mondays.

CARRIE JACOBS BOND.

"When the news was flashed across the continent that Eugene Field had 'fallen asleep' tears welled in eyes that had never seen the man, for his was one of those rare personalities that impress themselves indelibly given all over the country to this and lovingly without the necessity of personal acquaintance. Not only was he the children's poet, but he was beloved of all who read his simple verses. Chicago has the honor of being the home city of another gentle poet who has the same irresistible gift of weaving little stories of sweet sentiment, and of translating the quaint philosophy of homely, everyday life into captivating rhythm. Happily, too, the same cordial recognition is being given to this recipient of national admiration is a woman. To Carrie Jacobs-Bond came a letter once from Berlin which read:

"I am very fond of violets and of clean, fresh morning fields. That is why I like your little songs. You have the insight of the seer and the poet; you see deep. Simple things are difficult. There's work in the world for such as you. Many thousands are awaiting your message."

(Sgd.) D. Frangcon Davies.

Could a more exquisite tribute be paid than this from the famous Welsh baritone?

When "Blind Tom" gave one of his remarkable concerts in Janesville, Wis., and finished playing a composition after hearing it but once, an old man in the audience arose to make a suggestion.

"There's a little girl here who can do that same thing," he said.

"Let her come here and I will play one of my own compositions, which has never been published and she can try it," was the reply.

A plain, shy little nine-year-old girl was taken to the platform, and, although her small hands could not compass the octaves, she played the piece almost exactly as the man had. That was little Carrie Jacobs.

This little girl as the years passed worked as only the true genius can, not only in music but in poetry, for Mrs. Bond is a poet of unusual gifts. She is a "woman who writes poems, sets them to music and sings them in a manner that reveals the very acme of art." Mrs. Bond has written three hundred songs, and many of them have appeared on the programs of the great singers.

"There is no slightest doubt that Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond is a personality, or that she is a genius as many sided as it is possible to imagine a human being to be, and as unperturbed with the glow of emotionalism as one ever grows—man or woman."

Mrs. Bond is first, last and all the time an interpreter; vocal art counts for nothing when listening to her—piano technique recedes into the distance—and she speaks to you through the emotions, and interprets each bit as she speaks or sings faultlessly.

Mrs. Bond decided to publish her own composition, and this decision developed the Bond Shop which is one of the unique places in Chicago. There she lives and works surrounded by the luxuries which have crowned her endeavors.

Will Take Trip Through Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Andreas and son, Frederic, of 320 North El Molino avenue, expect to leave Pasadena Thursday morning for an extended trip in the north, Honolulu and Japan. They will first visit in San Francisco, and then go on to Seattle, where they will be the guests of relative, and later will sail for the Orient from San Francisco, stopping at Honolulu. They have friends in Japan whom they will visit while there. They do not expect to return to Pasadena until the latter part of August or first of September. After their return they are planning to build a handsome home on North El Molino avenue.

Mr. L. Tenney Peck was the complimented guest at a banquet given by Mr. Cecil Brown on Thursday evening, the 12th of May, at his country home in Kaalawai, beyond Diamond Head. A most pleasurable gathering at this home on the beach was enjoyed by the representatives of the different banks of Honolulu. Among those present were the guest of honor, Mr. L. Tenney Peck, Mr. M. P. Robinson, Mr. S. M. Damon, Mr. E. I. Spalding, Mr. A. Lewis Jr., Mr. George P. Castle, and Mr. Tokelids of the Yokohama Specie Bank, and the host, Mr. Cecil Brown. As Mr. Peck was to sail on the Sierra for an extended tour of the United States and Europe, many kind wishes for his safe return and a pleasant voyage were warmly expressed by the guests present.

Mrs. Alexander Gilchrist Hawes, Jr., is having a delightful trip en route to Europe. During her stay in California she was the guest of Mrs. Alexander Isenberg, who has a beautiful home in Berkeley. On her way to New York she spent ten days with the Hatches in Washington, D. C., and was the motif for much entertainment in the capitol city. Mrs. Hawes sailed for London on the White Star ship Cedric for London, England, where she will visit Dr. and Mrs. Humphreys for a month. Later she will journey to Paris and visit her aunt at her home in that city.

Among the visitors to Honolulu from Kauai, Sunday, May 15th, were Mrs. W. H. Rice and Miss Emily Rice.
